Nationwide Children's Hospital's Clinical Pathways

- Clinical Pathways are peer-reviewed, evidence-based best practice recommendations for the management and treatment of medical conditions.
- Our goal in sharing Clinical Pathways is to standardize best practices, leading to the best patient outcomes.

About Nationwide Children's Clinical Pathways Program

Our Clinical Pathways are informed by national clinical practice guidelines and a review of current literature.

They are meant to complement clinical judgment; they are not meant to be applied rigidly in all cases.

Clinical Pathways are developed by content experts, including physician and nursing leaders from medical subspecialties, and representatives from pharmacy, respiratory therapy and other allied health practitioners.
